5. Please write a few paragraphs for us, making a 'case' for offering you a scholarship.
(up to 250 words)

Scholarships for the Conference will be awarded according to need and merit and other criteria developed by the advisory committee. We view this conference as a highly participatory event and value the contributions of volunteers and participants and CSIN members who make this possible.

Scholarships have no cash value and scholarship participants are required to provide their own transportation and lodging and does not include the Gala Dinner on March 3, 2010.

Scholarships are made possible through the generosity of our Conference Partners and CSIN donors. In keeping with our policy of good stewardship, we would appreciate the opportunity to introduce our scholarship awardees to the sponsoring partners. This promotes goodwill and good networking.

Scholarships are limited.
